

APA WRITING RULES AND REFERENCING METHOD

Citation to the author or authors in the text

Single Author:

According to Baysal (1982)

(Baysal, 1982)

Two authors:

According to Wegener and Petty (1994) (...)

(Wegener and Petty, 1994)

Three to five authors:

In the first citation, all of the author names should be written; (Kernis, Cornell, Sun, Berry, ve Harlow, 1993)

Any following citations should be followed only include the first authors name, followed by et al. (Kernis et al., 1993)

When there is six or more authors, only the first author should be written, followed by et al.:

Harris et al. (2001) stated (...)

Harris et al. (2001) emphasized (...)

(Harris et al., 2001) stipulated

In cases where the name of the author is unknown or not specified, the first or two words in the text should be written in parentheses and quotation marks:

Politicians and bureaucrats have stated that the results are unacceptable and scandalous ("Die Pisa-Analyse", 2001).

If the author is an organization or government agency, it is cited as the first citation; if it is a well-known institution, its abbreviation is preferred for later use:

According to the American Psychology Society (2000),

First citation: (Mothers Against Drunk Driving [MADD], 2000)

Second citation: (MADD, 2000)

When more than one work is cited in the same parenthesis, they should be arranged in letter order and the two works should be separated by semicolons:

(Akar, H. 2010; Çalışkan, 2008; Dinçer ve Kolaşın, 2009; Engin-Demir, 2009; Tunç, 2007)

For authors with the same surname, the first letter of the name is also used to avoid confusion:
(E. Johnson, 2001; L. Johnson, 1998)

If two or more works of the same author published in the same year are cited, the letters (a, b, c) are used after the year:

According to the studies of Berndt (1981a) (...)

In the interviews, letters and e-mails reached through personal communication, the name of the person contacted and the date of the interview should be specified. However, data obtained through personal communication should not be included in the bibliography:

(N. AlSayyad, personal communication, 25 Mart 2012)

N. AlSayyad globalization and neoliberalism (...) (personal communication, 25 Mart 2012)

Footnotes and endnotes

Footnotes and endnotes are not preferred in APA writing style. Therefore, footnotes should be used as few as possible. Footnotes should be used only when a very essential explanatory note is required.

Important note:

APA recommends using "&" instead of "and" in citations and bibliography. However, since the symbol of "&" is not used instead of "and" in Turkish, "&" symbol should not be used when citing and writing bibliography in texts written in Turkish.

Also, when referring to texts with more than three authors, APA advises to use the first author surname, followed by "et al," instead of writing all of the names (Kernis et al., 1993). However, in Turkish, "vd." instead of "et al." (Kernis et al., 1993) should be used.

However, if the manuscript is submitted to the Idealkent journal for evaluation and is prepared in English, the citation and bibliography in these texts should contain the symbol "&" and "et al." Instead of "and," in accordance with APA standards.

Writing a bibliography

Basic Principles:

Single Author:

Berndt, T. J. (2002). Friendship quality and social development. Current Directions in Psychological Science, 11, 7-10.

Two Authors:

Wegener, D. T. and Petty, R. E. (1994). Mood management across affective states: The hedonic contingency hypothesis. Journal of Personality and Social Psychology, 66, 1034-1048.

Three to seven authors:

Kernis, M. H., Cornell, D. P., Sun, C. R., Berry, A., Harlow, T. and Bach, J. S. (1993). There's more to self-esteem than whether it is high or low: The importance of stability of self-esteem. Journal of Personality and Social Psychology, 65, 1190-1204.

If more than seven authors; after the names of the first six authors are listed, three dots are added and the last author's name is added. It should not include more than seven names:

Miller, F. H., Choi, M. J., Angeli, L. L., Harland, A. A., Stamos, J. A., Thomas, S. T., . . .

Rubin, L. H. (2009). Web site usability for the blind and low-vision user. Technical Communication, 57, 323-335.

Where an organization is the author:

American Psychological Association. (2003).

If the author is unknown:

Merriam-Webster's collegiate dictionary (10. ed.). (1993). Springfield, MA: Merriam-Webster.

If two or more studies of the same author are used, resources should be sorted chronologically:

Berndt, T. J. (1981).

Berndt, T. J. (1999).

If the author is the only author in a study and a co-author in another study, the study with one author should be listed first:

Berndt, T. J. (1999). Friends' influence on students' adjustment to school. Educational Psychologist, 34, 15-28.

Berndt, T. J. and Keefe, K. (1995). Friends' influence on adolescents' adjustment to school. Child Development, 66, 1312-1329.

If an author has published works with a different author, the order is listed alphabetically depending on the second or next name:

Wegener, D. T. Kerr, N. L., Fleming, M. A., and Petty, R. E. (2000). Flexible corrections of juror judgments: Implications for jury instructions. Psychology, Public Policy, and Law, 6, 629-654.

Wegener, D. T., Petty, R. E. and Klein, D. J. (1994). Effects of mood on high elaboration attitude change: The mediating role of likelihood judgments. European Journal of Social Psychology, 24, 25-43.

If an author has two or more works published in the same year, letters such as (a, b, c) are used:

Berndt, T. J. (1981a). Age changes and changes over time in prosocial intentions and behavior between friends. Developmental Psychology, 17, 408-416.

Berndt, T. J. (1981b). Effects of friendship on prosocial intentions and behavior. Child Development, 52, 636-643.
